Lamb's Lunch Ministry

Building up to the 15ᵗʰ annual Boulder Footwash

by Elsi Dodge

The Lamb's Lunch, a multi-church outreach to the Boulder's homeless community, continues to serve a hot meal each Saturday at First Pres. The ministry, which opens each November, culminates in a Footwash celebration on April 16, the day before Palm Sunday.

Volunteers from Calvary Bible Church, as well as Scouts from Troop 87 in Westminster, cooked and served a family-style sit-down meal February 26. Brian Krueger presented an inspirational message on how much God loves his lost people. Krueger invited five-year-old Elijah to lead participants in singing to a guest who was celebrating his 22ⁿᵈ birthday.

Saturday meals—complete with message, music, prayer, and fellowship—will continue through March and the beginning of April. Then, on "Palm Saturday," the traditional Boulder Footwash will close the season. The Footwash supplements the regular Lunch activities with a movie, clothing distribution, Easter eggs, face painting, greeting cards, a band and sing-along, medical personnel to check and minister to guests' feet, hair cutting, and—of course—the washing of feet. This last is in memory of and obedience to Jesus' Last Supper command to his disciples to be servants and wash one another's feet (John 13:12.)

Volunteers are welcome at all Lamb's Ministry activities, especially including the Boulder Footwash. Contact 303.335.9771 / info@lambsministry.org.
